

MOUNT VERNON ARGUS.

December 17, 1909

Didn't Touch Edison.

John Berentson, a prominent merchant of Edison, was a business visitor in the city last Tuesday. Mr. Berentson says that Edison did not suffer directly from the flood, but in a measure it will share in a temporary loss of trade, caused by the damages to the roads by the flood throughout the adjacent farming districts. He says that Edison and the rich farming district surrounding it are experiencing steady and substantial growth.