Dear Mr. Stevens:

Inclosed is a copy of Field Survey Instructions that Mr. Dave Hough, Skagit County Administrator, asked me to send you. These instructions describe the type of field survey data that are needed to make a flood hazard evaluation of your island property in the Skagit River near Marblemount.

If you are willing to perform the necessary surveys upon request from Skagit County, we will make the flood hazard evaluation. The field survey data is needed by us to perform the necessary hydrologic and hydraulic studies required to define the floodwater surface elevations on your property. There is no charge to you for this evaluation.

We will furnish our completed analysis to Skagit County so they can make a determination concerning your proposal for development of this island property.

As I indicated to you in our earlier conversation, Skagit County is the agency having jurisdiction regarding land-use regulations for your proposed development.

If you have questions concerning these Field Survey Instructions, please call us.

Sincerely yours,
