

Protection from floods is seen in this scale model of project

BYPASS — Skagit County engineers are displaying this contour model of the proposed $30,000,

000 flood control project. Construction of the Avon Bypass from the Skagit River south of Burlington